International Artistic Organization

PORTFOLIO

PROLOGUE

QUOTE from the Letter of support of
INTERNATIONAL PEACE BUREAU - IPB
to
WORLD ART GAMES - WAG (former CULTURE OLYMPICS)

" The International Peace Bureau ( IPB ) hereby would like to congratulate the Association "Culture Olympics" from Croatia, on its initiative to organize the Culture Olympiad ..... Creating a forum where artists from different disciplines can meet, provides opportunities both for strengthening a group of country's own culture and for learning to appreciate and build respect for the cultural and artistic expressions of others. Friendship may take roots where formerly there was lack of knowledge, distrust and even enmity ..... The International Peace Bureau supports your initiative and wishes you all success in the preparation and running of the Culture Olympics, thereby strengthening the creative forces so needed for the world to become a more just and peaceful place ..... We would be glad to be kept informed of the development of this project."

SIGNED by Co-President Secretary General
INGEBORG BREINES and COLIN ARCHER
(Geneve, Switzerland, December 5th 2010)

IPB, THE WORLDS OLDEST EXISTING INTERNATIONAL PEACE ORGANIZATION, RECEIVED THE NOBEL PEACE PRIZE IN 1910

AUTHORSHIP

WORLD ART GAMES (abbreviated WAG) is Copy-writing and intellectual property of duo Peter Weisz and Jasminka Blazevic Paunovic.

VISION

Being the world's leading independent organization in the field of modern arts, art and culture.

MISSION

To establish committees in all states and therefore to connect artists of all artistic disciplines into a powerful NET, to enable them larger recognition, professional development, education, etc.

To initiate, create, synchronize, manage cultural activities for the benefit of

- ✧ Members - enabling them to increase the value of their work
- ✧ Art lovers - by increasing available intangible wealth by providing artistic flow
- ✧ Children, young people, thus future society - by dispersive representation of the world of art and culture, maintaining international art projects and exchanges we will establish framework of tolerance and acceptance of diversity and differences

PRINCIPLES

WAG Organization stands open to all States and people, who respect Human Rights, regardless of skin color, ethnicity, religion, age, gender, sexual preferences, social status, political persuasion.

LOGO

Basic shape is a circle - a perfect form, a symbol of continuity

In the middle is a white figure, stylized Leonard's "Man" with open arms - as a symbol of art, creativity, openness, acceptance

ABOUT “GAMES”

CONCEPT

WORLD ART GAMES (shorter GAMES) is the central event of the Organization, held once a year, in one of the countries from a WAG' network.

Duration: 8-10 days

Participants: artists of all artistic expressions, categories and disciplines (painters, graphic artists, sculptors, ceramists, photographers, musicians, dancers, poets, writers, and others.)

National teams: no restrictions on the number of participants of the national teams

Participation options: "present" or "not present" artists (not present artists just send art work for exhibition or display, do not come in person to the Games)

Artists exhibitors - exhibit their work at the Games

Performing artists - perform at the Games

Writers - read their poems or parts of their literary works at the Games

Participation in the Games is the most important moment for all members of the WAG Organization.

DESCRIPTION

WAG` MAIN EVENT, so called Culture Olympics, is international festival - gathering of artists all art disciplines, every time in some other state, with duration of few days, with daily performances, exhibitions, interactive projects, literary meetings....

Every National Committee (NC) can apply to host the Games in own state and proposed Host City. Head Office (HQ) chooses the host among applications. Event is organized in cooperation of HQ, NC and the Host City.

Every NC is responsible for own artistic team for the Games. Means, NC advertises event in own state, invites artists to participate and chooses artists from own state, for national artistic team, with support and in cooperation with national artistic organizations, institutions, sponsors, etc. Size of team depends on ability of NC to find funds for the cost of participation (travel cost and participation fee, fee covers venues for the events, hotel accommodation, Book of the Games, excursions, etc.)

Organizers are responsible to provide venues and technical support for all events (exhibition halls, concert halls, theaters, cinemas, open spaces, etc.), where every artist participant can exhibit or perform. Organizers prepare program of the Games (based on registrations), provide level of ceremonies, hotel accommodation, excursion, organize introduction of the host city, and else requested from a good host. Organizers are responsible to prepare Diplomas and the Book of the Games, with own places in it for the host city and all participants and their arts.

Compendium: Edo Arts/Culture Ministry To Make History - Commissioner

AS part of the buildup activities to EDOFEST, the Edo State Commissioner for Arts, Culture and Tourism, Hon. Aanena Jemitolu, on Tuesday formally inaugurated an Editorial Board to publish a compendium of the various arts and cultural works institutions, firms, organizations and their activities, various festivals, tourist/heritage sites and monuments, artworks and art groups, tourism and hospitality practitioners and hotels, educational institutions, musical and cultural troupes, and all other groups, institutions and individuals in Edo State who are stakeholders in the promotion of arts, cultural and tourism development in Edo State.

Listing the terms of reference to the editorial board, Hon. Jemitolu hinted that the compendium project was a strategic part of preparations towards the much awaited Edo State Festival of Arts and Culture (EDOFEST) which she said the State Governor, Comrade Adams Aluu Oshiomhole, has approved to hold towards the end of this year.

The editorial board included the Honourable Commissioner, Aanena E. Jemitolu as the publisher, the Acting Permanent Secretary, Deacon Pius Ehimien (Editor-in-Chief); Steve Oma-Oforoz (Editor), Irabor Valentine (Assistant Editor); Blessing Iyekpolor (Research Editor).

Other members of the editorial board are: Adesuwa Omorogieva, Moses Obakpolor, Raymond Osogbe, Francis Odupute, James Inogbedion, Andy Ehanire, Washington Abbey.

The Honourable

Commissioner who was visibly enthused by the caliber of workforce who had been assembled by her ministry for the job ahead, said although the concept was her baby, it would take the commitment of the team to make the baby grow and deliver on its purpose. She said, "I know we are going to make history with this compendium. It is the first time in the history of Edo State that a compendium will be published by this ministry. Let our watchword be to make history."

POETRY

Before The Dawn

TEARS fill my eyes when the present is looked upon Nothing much to bring succour
Bombs at the left and shots at the right
Little sleep for our brethren in the north

If I were to choose the present state in a coupon
I am sure I will not pick a condition in this furore
Where so many things happen in the night
And hearts bleed in sight when the day is bright

Oh! So much for the effect of the canker
Where the wrong things have been left in the tanker
For the consumption of the future changers
No hope from the sight of the sky

But I believe in the wake of the sleeping giant When mouths will open and not close because of the brightness of this star
It will happen, though it seems far
The people just have to be ready to be part

Gird your loins brethren and join the train
Make this nation proud with the contents of your brain
Let the efforts be unified into one life the beauty of the brains
The clock ticks; you are either part of the builders or the drains.

World Art Games Open For Nigerian Artists

ENVISIONING a skill-based youthful generation, a group by the name World Art Games Nigeria, is organizing an Art and cultural event to, among other things, "bring about meaningful impact into lives of youths such that they are relevant to themselves and the society at large."

According to a release by the organizers, "World Art Games is organizing its maiden Art Games Croatia 2013 and Nigeria is expected to send artists for participation alongside more than 70 other countries." It said the idea of the project was to build a network of artists from all creative disciplines to showcase their latest achievements.

The theme of this year's event is: "UNLOCKING CREATIVE APTITUDE," and the Art Games in Croatia will be holding between June 29 and July 10, 2013.

Various categories of the event will be featured and participants will be selected in Nigeria under mutually benefitting terms and conditions and winners are to emerge at the end of the competition which will be held in Nigeria. Selected artists are expected to represent Nigeria at the World Art Games in Croatia. The categories, the release said, include painting, sculpture, photography, Film, TV (Music Videos), theatre, ceramics, Dance, Music, Fashion, Souvenirs, Literature, cuisine, street Art, etc.

Coming Soon: World Art Games Nigeria

THE Association "World Art Games Nigeria" is a non-profit and non-Governmental organization, registered in Nigeria, with Office at 13, Calcutta Crescent, Apapa-Lagos. It is a worldwide organization with Headquarters in Croatia.

AIMS. To interconnect creative artists from all artistic disciplines on a network, in order to organize the art competition every two years in Nigeria. The event will be permanent and would traditionally be held in the partner cities of World Art Games Association.

OBJECTIVES: To build a National and worldwide network of Committee of World Art Games (WAG), whose chairman and members are renowned artists in various artistic (creative) disciplines.

To promote creativity, entrepreneurship personal development nationally simultaneously and internationally.

The national culture and creativity teams compete in the same areas and through friendly relations and presentation of their traditions and cultural heritage

— the idea of peace and tolerance will be developed — which historically has always been the idea of World Art Games.

Invitation of the World Art Games is sent to all countries regardless of race, religion, or political commitment. The invitation is sent by the members of the WAG To bring about meaningful impact into lives of youths this will make them relevant to themselves and the society at large.

To discover upcoming talents that will serve as avenue for self improvement. To the culture of professionalism in our creative minded youths.

To add value and entertainment based content to TV programming locally and internationally.

OUR VISION

We see a skill-based youthful generation.

World Art Games Nigeria is to organize competition in the following events every two years to select those that will represent the Country at the International competition in Croatia.

In view of the above, we are asking Government, Corporate bodies and well meaning individuals for sponsorship because we can not do it alone.

2nd INTERNATIONAL BIENNIAL OF CONTEMPORARY ART OF ARGENTINA

The Biennial aims at promoting national and international art as all participating artists can exchange techniques and knowledge, attend conferences, visit museums and workshops and meet artists from all around the world.

This international event will convene art specialists, journalists, art critics and galleries worldwide. A major international jury will be part of the Biennial, as Professor Gregorio Luque, art historian, prominent artist Vito Campanella, the Americanist Ponciano Cardenas, Gyula Kosice and the Director of the Biennale, Ms. Maria Elena Beneito.

Biennial include International Exhibition, a seminar by Professor Gregory Luque, a Hall on Great International Artists and visits to artists' studios and art museums.

The First International Biennial of Contemporary Art of Argentina, held in 2012 at the Borges Cultural Centre, was attended by 150 artists from 19 countries.

October 6 - 8, within the scope of the Biennial, the highest authorities of the International Association of Art, a non-governmental organization working in partnership with UNESCO, will hold their Second Latin American and Caribbean Meeting. Given this circumstance, would be organized a meeting with both entities -WAG and IAA- with the objective of mutual promotion.

Universidad Autónoma inauguró exposición colectiva World Art Games-Chile

La muestra contempló la exhibición de obras de 18 artistas visuales nacionales y uno del extranjero procedente de Croacia que estuvo en la actividad.

TALCA. Célestres pinturas, esculturas y grabados digitales en acrílico sobre tela de artistas nacionales y extranjeros, fueron expuestos en la Galería de Arte de la Universidad Autónoma de Talca en la exposición que llevó por título World Art Games-Chile.

Al respecto, World Art Games, es una organización internacional sin fines de lucro con sede central en Croacia, cuya misión es crear una red de artistas en el mundo para difundir el arte y su patrimonio cultural dentro de los ideales de paz y tolerancia, independiente de su color, origen étnico, religión, género, condición social o convicciones políticas, dentro del marco de los derechos humanos.

“Estas obras vienen de ser expuestas con gran éxito en el prestigioso Museo Belli de Santiago, donde estuvo en exhibición por tres meses para luego viajar a nuestra galería en Talca”, comentó la curadora de la Galería de Arte de la Universidad Autónoma, Virginia Álvarez.

En la oportunidad estuvo presente el artista visual Andrés Hermosilla Soler, quien expuso en dicho espacio artístico en el primer semestre de este año y ahora integra esta muestra colectiva, no solo como expuestor, sino como presidente para Chile de World Art Games - Chile.

En el lugar se puede apreciar distintas obras. Una de ellas es del presidente mundial de World Art Games

Los alumnos y distintos asistentes observaron las obras artísticas.

Internacional, artista visual Peter Wenz, Croata. También de María Eugenia Abel, representante de Chile en la Bienal de Beijing - China 2015 y Alia Chellely, presidenta de la Asociación de Pintores y Escultores de Chile (Apec), entre otros. SANTIAGO. Hoy en “Melo&Astorga, Cultura a los bandos” de TVN, en los Tesoros de La Ruta se mostró a los Kombai de Indonesia, uno de las últimas tribus caníbales del planeta. También a los Dinkas de Sudán del Sur, un pueblo guerrero dispuesto a morir en una tierra llena de perros. Siguiendo en África, los Bushyheads mostraron que para ellos, el camello es un símbolo de riqueza y prestigio social.

Además, se verán alucinantes e impactantes ceremonias que ponen en exhibición de lobos de cuernos de temor o toroza, pero que son parte de otros cultos y de la vida real en Taqu, Indonesia y México.

Para seguir viendo el mundo de los ojos delos chilenos, el programa viaja a Hong Kong donde mostrará el testimonio de cinco compatriotas que decidieron comenzar una nueva vida, apagado o lo moderno y el progreso en lo más distal del mundo con maya número de edificios sobre los 150 metros.

En “Un viaje por la Tierra” (Barraflight) de la BBT, se mostrará a través de América del Norte acompañando a una banda de gansos de nieve. También se exhibirá hoy el puente Golden Gate en San Francisco con pelícanos y experimentando la sensación de estar en la parte posterior de un avión volando a través del Gran Cañón y Nueva York. Los gansos iniciarán los extraordinarios hábitos de los dellines, para alimento.

El equipo de “Tremor Feroz” (Frente Farto), exploró el fenómeno de los temblores Cleo y Mike enfrenton con una de las grupos de risata internacionales más importantes, los escola o un peligroso a combate con un compañero muy especial, y en Tokio y Zona en Tokio descubrieron como los perros se mantienen a salvo en la ciudad más propensa del planeta a los temblores.

MARÍA JESÚS PÉREZ BIDEAGAIN

Artistas de diferentes países y disciplinas para intercambiar, a nivel internacional, conocimientos y obras. No importa su origen étnico, género o postura política mientras se mantenga la paz y la tolerancia. Así fue la idea del pintor croata-israelí Peter Weisz, que originó, en 2009, la World Art Games International (WAG), organización que él preside desde su casa matriz en Croacia.

Más de 80 países fueron sumándose a la iniciativa de WAG, con sedes mundiales en Reino Unido, México, Perú, Brasil, Francia. Y Chile es uno de los miembros más recientes. "Quisimos interconectarlos para que se conocieran entre ellos y aprendieran otros estilos de arte y de patrimonio contemporáneo", explica Weisz.

En marzo de 2014, WAG abrió sus puertas en nuestro país, presidido por el artista visual Andrés Hermosilla-Soliz, y ya cuenta con 18 miembros. Para mostrar parte del trabajo que han realizado en este tiempo, presentan, hasta el 27 de septiembre, la exposición colectiva de pintura "World Art Games Chile - 2015" en la Sala 4 del Museo Ralli de Santiago (Alonso de Sotomayor 4110, Vitacura).

Los artistas nacionales —Francisco Valenzuela Durret, Alex Chellew, Margarita Garcés y Ximena Ossandón son algunos de ellos— exhiben sus obras organizadas según estilo: abstracto, semifigurativo y figurativo. Hermosilla, quien realizó la curaduría, cuenta: "La temática era libre para que cada uno mostrara su propuesta".

La entrada a la exhibición es liberada, de martes a domingo de 10:30 a 17:00 horas. Y en noviembre llegará a la Galería de Arte de la U. Autónoma de Chile en Talca, donde además habrá coloquios y otras actividades.

Como la idea es generar una red de creadores a través del mundo, cada dos años WAG organiza los Juegos Mundiales del Arte, que reúnen obras de miembros de todos los continentes sin importar la disciplina en la que trabajan: pintura, grabado, escultura, fotografía, cerámica, música y más.

Este año, del 1 al 9 de septiembre, los juegos tendrán su segunda versión en Bratislava. La capital eslovaca se llenará de actividades en diversos espacios públicos y como representantes de Chile participarán Patricia Schüler, María Eugenia Akel, Miguel de Lanú y Andrés Hermosilla-Soliz. Este último estuvo en el primer encuentro, realizado en Croacia (2013): "Hubo —recuerda— exposiciones, conciertos y distintas actividades artísticas. No es solo sobre artes visuales". El tercer encuentro está programado para 2017 en EE.UU.

MEXICO, Oaxaca - Video "Mixtec Culture at the World Art Games 2013 in Croatia"

Video talks about Ildefonso Lopez Mendoza and Antonio Marcial Cruz, Mixtec Artists "Los Mixadores Mixtecos Unidos de Oaxaca", who participated in the 1st World Art Games in Croatia, in 2013.

Thoughts from video:

"They marked the history of the Mixtec culture by bringing their talent to the World"
"Idelfonso López, a Mixtec engraver who is part of the delegation, said that he showed in Croatia the engraving in jícaras, in linoleum and metal where part of the iconography-Mixtec has been formed."

"Ours, more than a contemplative, art is loaded with culture and tradition, because there we lay our roots and the wisdom of our ancestors." Ildefonso Lopez

"This Project represents meeting and the union of many cultures that with symbols and colors give a message to the world of PEACE, UNITY and SUSTAINABILITY through Art."

Video is visible on the World Art Games` You Tube Channel

From the article "Announcement Mexico's participation in World Art Games", released by the Ministry of Culture - Mexico on the Government website "gob.mx":

The first edition of this meeting will be held in Croatia from June 29 to July 10 with the participation of a Mexican delegation composed of 20 artists.

In the José Luis Cuevas Museum, accompanied by Matilde Roca, director of selection of the Mexican delegation, Alejandro de Anda, head of delegation, announced details of Mexico's participation in the World Art Games. He said that this meeting's main mission is to show Art as a tool of peace and tolerance.

"It is important to mention that more than 600 applications were received to integrate our selection of Mexican creators whose works are of the highest quality. "

He mentioned that the delegation's trip has been supported by specialists such as the painter José Luis Cuevas, as well as Carlos González, Gabriela Arouesty, Leticia de Anda, Alberto Ortega Ruiz and Agnese Sartori.

The independent artists who will travel to Croatia are Idelfonso López Mendoza, Antonio Marcial, Mafer Suárez, Norman Bardavid, Cristina Arnedo, Ingrid Rosas, Margarita Guadaña, Beatriz Eugenia Hernández, Alicia G. De Miner, Guadalupe Corvacho, Irma Obregón, Mayoli Bruguera And Daniel Domínguez Roca.

"There is much to show of our country and that is before our eyes every day, that is why it is a real pride to participate in this meeting that is a world movement for peace."

During the conference, a message was recorded by the painter José Luis Cuevas in which he regrets not being able to attend Croatia for health reasons.

"Croatia is one of the most beautiful countries in the world and I am sure that the talent of our artists will be one of the most important presences in this meeting," said José Luis Cuevas.

Matilde Roca said that José Luis Cuevas, who supports the presence of this delegation, is still one of the most important artists of our nation, which is why he will offer a conference in Croatia to publicize his work among the public of that country.

"His great legacy and his commitment to art undoubtedly is linked to the purpose of this meeting that abanders peace and tolerance, so it will be a pride to talk about his work and give a context on the great legacy he has created for our nation".

NEW ZEALAND, "The Dominion Post" Article, by Simon Edwards: "Kiwi World Art Games delegates give artists a taste of Maori culture"

"There are artists from nations including Finland, Azerbaijan, Serbia and Mexico who now know how to make and swing a poi.

Jules Hunt and Carrie Burke from the Hutt Valley, and Lisa Wilkins-Pirika from Canterbury, formed the Kiwi contingent to the third World Art Games, held in Montenegro last month. As their contribution to the Games' education outreach, in which artists are challenged to reach out to schools in their country, the New Zealanders ran a workshop for other delegates on how to make a proper braided poi, and to use it with a Maori action song/waiata.

Wilkins-Pirika had spent a day with a kapa haka class at Tai Tapu School to brush up on the skills needed

For Burke, the poi workshop and the links forged with people in other countries, sum up what the biennial World Art Games and annual conference are about.

"Yes, we are all artists celebrating arts in the broadest sense. But it's actually about people getting together to learn about each others' culture...what makes us different but more importantly what makes us the same."

NEW ZEALAND, Canterbury - WAG NZ Children Project in "Tai Tapu Primary School"

In 2016 WAG NZ decided that they would host a Poi-making workshop at the 3rd World Art Games in Montenegro 2016.

We wanted our children to share with us something about our Maori culture that we could share with the international network as part of the WAG Children' project.

National Committee member and local artist Lisa Wilkins-Pirika spent the day with a group of children talking about the wag network and discussing her art, in return they taught her a Waiata (cultural song), Kapa-haka (dance/actions) and how to make a traditional poi. We gave a video presentation of the children working with Lisa at the Games 2016, in Montenegro.

Using the skills the children had transferred, WAG NZ NC hosted a poi-making workshop and taught artists from the WAG network how to perform with the poi to a waiata.

NEW ZEALAND, "The Press" Article, by Charlie Gates: "Canterbury artist sees the world through her father's eyes and wins gold"

Canterbury artist Lisa Wilkins-Pirika wanted to show her late father the World Art Games in Slovakia, so she made his glass eye into a bracelet and wore it for the whole trip.

The Birdlings Flat woman was glad her father was watching when she won a gold medal for her paintings at the World Art Games, a gathering held every two years with work from artists across the world.

Wilkins-Pirika, who describes herself as a contemporary Maori artist, won the gold medal for two paintings.

"It was like a big validation of a lifetime's work.

"Winning the World Art Games was the culmination of a long process of struggling through. My dad had just died. I had been looking after him and struggling through."

She went as part of a team of artists representing New Zealand at the World Art Games, which were established in 2013 with an aim of fostering peace through art.

"It has been a real community effort. They have backed me and I have been able to bring them a result."

She said her father would have been proud of her gold medal.

"He used to tell people that we were the All Blacks of art. He would have been so proud of the gold medal."

“You're working hard for your experience, that's for sure”, says Carrie Burke, whose trip to Slovakia in September builds on her attendance at the first biennial World Art Games in Croatia in 2013.

She found the inaugural 10-day WAG very fulfilling.

‘It was the like-mindedness...the opportunity to talk with people involved in arts from all over the world, and to recognise all the things we have in common.’

The Games' motto is ‘Connecting hearts through art for a better world’ and Burke says they're not empty words.”

NEW ZEALAND - Rubicon Valley: "Jet Boat Riders & Art at Springfield"

Jet Boat Rides & Art at Springfield

Springfield artist Vicky Peacock is preparing to represent New Zealand at the first World Art Games to be held in Croatia later this year.

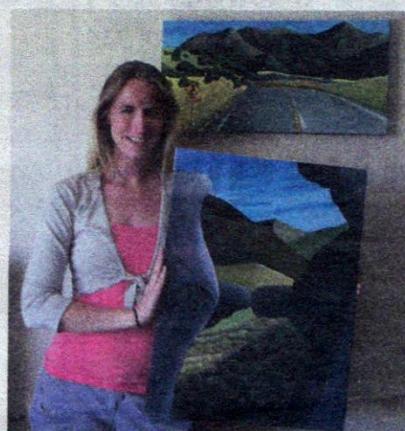

Her first solo exhibition, 'Contemporary Canterbury Landscapes', will take place at Drovers Cafe in Springfield from 23rd March to 7th April as part of 'Celebrating Selwyn' and the works will showcase Canterbury in a bold, contemporary and representational style.

Original paintings and pastel drawings, canvas prints, photo blocks, greetings cards and prints will be available to purchase with sale proceeds going towards the cost of Vicky's trip. Her work is competitively priced and her local scenes, including Castle Hill, West Coast Road and Lake Pearson, have already attracted a lot of interest.

As part of the fundraising campaign, Alpine Jet of Springfield have generously offered to sponsor Vicky in a one-off special price Jet Boating day. For $30 (normally $85) you can experience thirty minutes of thrills and spills on the Waimakariri River with proceeds going towards Vicky's travel and preparation costs. See the accompanying advertisement on this page for details about the trip.

Vicky is very grateful to Paul and Lynda Vernel, the owners and operators of Alpine Jet for their initiative and generous support and sponsorship; her husband and Jet Boat Driver, Greg Peacock for his unconditional support, enthusiasm and organisation of the fundraiser; Julie and Tom Wilson of Drovers Cafe for providing the perfect setting to display her paintings; Heather and Trevor Taege for their generosity and support; and the Malvern Community Board and Clearview Primary School and Board for the support they have shown.

Vicky is excited and nervous about the prospect of sharing her art with the rest of the world, but she is hopeful that this once-in-a-lifetime opportunity will shape the next chapter in her artistic career.

NEW ZEALAND - Newspaper article: "Cappel to attend Art Games"

Cappel to attend Art Games

A Whangarei author will be the first person from the district to attend the inaugural World Art Games in Croatia next year.

Writer and artist Leo Cappel accepted an invitation to read from his novels at the two week festival, which celebrates artistic disciplines with participants from 62 countries.

The 79-year-old Amsterdam born artist was invited to the games after his penned poem, Roseanna, was selected to represent New Zealand in an international compilation of poetry for children — to be published in time for the games. "I was kind of stunned in a way with the news but it's a big honour and an even bigger responsibility," Mr Cappel said.

Roseanna was originally published in Mr Cappel's novel Clone, which is one of seven books he has had published.

Five of his stage plays, including three musicals, have been produced.

President of WAG's New Zealand committee Sharlene Schmidt said the overall standard of submissions received for the project was high.

"Leo's poem impressed the selection panel as the most suitable for the intended audience," Ms Schmidt said.

Despite his impressive poetry Mr Cappel declared he is not a versifier.

"I don't see myself as a poet. I'm an author but in my writing I often use poems as part of the plot."

Mr Cappel said the last time he wrote a poem was when he was 18-years-old. "I don't think they were any good — just teenage rubbish," he said.

Mr Cappel is also a sculptor, painter and musician. His work is held in several overseas collections.

Local artists have the chance to show their work to the world at the inaugural World Art Games in Croatia next June.

The New Zealand WAG committee is seeking artwork of all kinds for the contest, described as "an arts version of the Olympic Games".

Two members of the committee, Jules Hunt and Carrie Burke, have strong Hutt links and are keen for Valley artists to take advantage of the opportunity.

"This is a really good chance for artists to be showcased on both a national and international scale," Jules Hunt said.

"Those involved for the games get their work seen at a number of events throughout New Zealand, then after the games end the art stays in Europe for two years travelling between galleries and art museums."

The festival, the idea of Croatian artists Peter Weisz and Jasminka Blazevic, will be biennial. The next will be in Turkey with the New Zealand committee hoping to host the 2017 games.

Sixty-two countries have registered for next year's event, which involves 15 disciplines and 51 categories including painting, sculpting, photography, ceramics, glass, jewellery, writing, theatre, film, street art, music, architecture, dance, fashion and cuisine.

"The organisers have covered everything. For instance, the cuisine section allows for two Kiwi chefs to travel over there to create dishes at some of Croatia's top restaurants."

The deadline for entries is October 10 and the committee would like to see as many entries from the Hutt. "WAG aims to open the door to global opportunities for artists. Carrie and I feel excited and honoured to be able to support local artists."

Submissions close October 10, registration is $30. Forms from www.wagteamnz.com.

ART AND ENTERTAINMENT

It's game on for artists

By MEGAN HOWSON

Sharlene Schmidt's artwork has already taken her around the world.

But the Levin oil painter of 10 years is busier than ever, since being appointed president of the New Zealand national committee for the inaugural World Art Games.

The international art festival will be biennial, with the first to be held in Croatia next July. Turkey will host the second festival in 2015, and the New Zealand committee hopes to host the 2017 games.

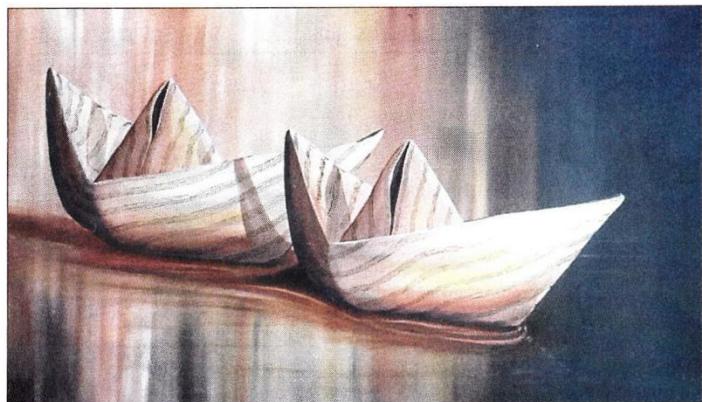

The idea was founded in 2009 by Peter Weisz and Jasmina Blazevic Paunovic, of Croatia, and it has taken three years to turn the initiative into a reality.

It is described as art's version of the Olympic Games, and 62 countries will compete in 15 genres, including painting, literature, theatre, architecture, cuisine and music.

New Zealand's three voluntary committee members were appointed by the game's head office based on their artistic abilities.

Wellington's Jules Hunt and Whakatane's Hiria Ratahi will be working alongside Schmidt, selecting and organising the New Zealand team.

Schmidt's forte is oil painting. Many of her pieces are inspired by musical compositions, which she said is her "signature". She has music composed primarily for her artwork.

As a full-time artist, Schmidt has exhibited in Italy, Albania, India and Croatia. In her 2010 trip to Italy, she was involved in a World War II memorial exhibition, along with other New Zealand artists.

Committee members from participating countries are expected to enter their own pieces in the World Art Games, and committee presidents will also be exhibiting at the International Art Conference in Turkey this September. Schmidt will be taking two works to this event.

The New Zealand committee is encouraging New Zealanders with artistic talent to apply for the Games. About 30 successful candidates will be taken.

To apply, email Sharlene Schmidt at newzealand@wagames.org.

Callout to Short Film Makers

September 1st - 2nd 2012 will mark the 300 day countdown to the World Art Games 2013, being held in Croatia. The launch will start with the raising of the flags ceremony and stream live worldwide, for 24 hours. Each country attending has been asked to submit a 60 second promo film of their country to be included in the live stream. So we want you to send us your creative overview of NZ arts, artists, heritage and culture.

The winning entry will be used in the 24hr live stream and secure their right to represent NZ in their given arts field.

Submissions Close - August 15th 2012

NEW ZEALAND - "Matamata Chronicle": "Artist picked for Croatian Colony" by L. McKoy

24 MATAMATA CHRONICLE, APRIL 11, 2012

NEWS

Artist picked for Croatian Colony

By LAURA MCKOY

Pamela Tapp's talent and passion for painting has landed her a spot at the second Painters' Colony in Vukovar, Croatia in May this year as part of the World Art Games.

She is one of 20 artists to be selected from around the world to participate in the event where she will represent New Zealand.

"It is still quite surreal that I was chosen," she said.

"I found out about two weeks ago that I was going, after a representative from the World Art Games came to look at my paintings. It really is an amazing opportunity."

The World Art Games will be held biennially for people of all artistic categories and disciplines to come together, be creative and help build a worldwide art network.

But with only one month to raise the $5000 needed for the trip, she is calling on members of the community to help.

Tapp is humbly asking for donations or sponsorship and said if someone was willing to jump on board and sponsor her trip, she would donate a piece of her art to their business.

Tapp has always had a creative flair but didn't take up painting until 2002 – and it has quickly become an exciting outlet for her creativity.

She went to the Waikato Insti-

Gallery in Morrinsville.

As painting has become her forte she has developed her own style and enjoys working with abstraction, colour, texture, and shape.

"It is about finding a style that works and that you enjoy and just going with it," she said.

While in Croatia she has to complete three paintings within a week.

One will remain in the City Museum Gallery in Vukovar, one will go to the World Art Games Museum and the third one she is able to bring home.

Although plenty of creative juices flow easily for Tapp, she said being in Croatia might inspire a few more.

"I will still go with a few ideas though as I want to be able to inject a bit of the flavour that I have here," she said.

"I am really looking forward to it – it will be such a growing experience and I have heard so many wonderful things about Croatia from others who have been there so it will be a great time."

Die Mur

Den Fluss liebt man,
oder man liebt ihn nicht,
bekannt oder fremd,
schnell oder träge.

Die Mur ist schlammig,
dunkel und gefährlich,
rauschend, sprudelnd.

Gezähmt wird sie nicht.
In ihrem Gewässer
spiegelt sich der Himmel nicht wider.
Nur die Wellen werden
durch dunkle Wolken noch dunkler.

Sie webt ihre Ströme
ohne Ordnung.
Wütend trägt sie
alles mit sich fort.

Die Mur ist launisch,
seltsam, wirbelreich.

Ihre Ufer,
durch Haine
und Weiden umrandet,
von Libellen versilbert,
durch Vogelflug
überbrückt;

mit Schneeflocken
im Winter bedeckt, im Glanz des Sommers vom Fläumfedern der Platanen
in der Blütezeit überfüllt.

Was in ihren Schoß
hineingezogen wird, bleibt für immer dort
und stirbt auf ewig.

Die Mur ist launisch,
seltsam, wirbelreich.

BANGLADESH, Dhaka - “The Daily Star” newspaper article by Ziaul Karim, “WAG: An Oasis for Art Practitioners”

Ziaul Karim, Art Critic, back from Croatia:

Imagine an ambience where creative minds get together, share experiences, converse interactively, draw inspirations to rekindle flames of creativity--or just sit back and relax! Too utopian to be true? But World Art Games, popularly known as WAG, is an oasis for art practitioners, traversing genres and mediums, where all creative people can mix and mingle, exchanging ideas and promoting peace while using the language of art.

WAG is now represented in 40 countries through its national committees, who meet annually to discuss and plan future programmes and undertake activities that in the best spirit of the Olympic Games celebrate the joy of togetherness through competition. Like the Olympics WAG will be held in different countries and these countries must win the right to stage WAG through bids to host a ten-day bi-annual event.

Bangladeshi artist Laila Sharmin works on her street painting.

Held in the Croatian cities of Ludbreg, Vukovar and Umag, the first World Art Games hosted over 200 artists, musicians and performers from more than 40 different countries including Bangladesh. With Colombia, Argentina and Mexico together fielding 38 artists, Latin America dominated the games events.

Laila Sharmeen decorated her street painting at the Open University of Umag with traditional Bengali motifs of flower, fish and bird and Bangla alphabets to evoke the quintessential colours of Bengal and also pay tribute to Bangladesh's language movement. She drew the basic design for the 40 feet painting, explained the colour scheme to artists from India, the USA, Colombia, Finland, Netherlands, and Croatia and then invited them to apply paint on the work. She also engaged people from local community and tourists visiting Umag to turn her project into a collaborative-community painting. The scene of the street painting was carnivalesque, especially because of the Pokko Cherri Band from Malaysia that played foot tapping numbers.

Colombian artist Sergio Jiminez performing "Second Skin"

Sergio's next move was to create 'Second Skin' with Colombian Fashion designer Andrea Castro at Castle Bethyany. He orchestrated his moves on this occasion with the tempo of the music and the catwalk of the models. He approached the audience in a series of movements and had them draw lines on his body with markers. The idea was to get him drawn by people from different culture and society.

Xianfen Temple of Emei Mountain

Yueer Sander Culture Communication of Chengdu Co., Ltd

Mount Emei is the highest of China's four holy Buddhist mountains. The name "Emei" literally means "delicate eyebrow". This name is derived from two of the mountain's peaks, Wanfo (Ten Thousand Buddha) Summit and Golden Summit, which face each other and resemble the delicate eyebrows of a Chinese beauty

After the spread of Buddhism during the Tang and Song dynasties, many Buddhist temples were built here. There used to be more than 100 temples and shrines on the mountain, but only about 30 still stand today.

A legend claims that the mountain was where Samantabhadra gave lectures on Buddhism and most temples house a statue of him. Mount Emei is home to a number of scenic and religious spots including: Baoguo Temple, Wannian Temple, Fohu Temple, Qingyin Pavilion, Heilongjiang Tunnel, Hongchun Platform, Xianfeng Temple (Jiulao Cave), Xixiang Pond, and Golden Summit.

仙峰寺

峨眉山仙峰岩下仙峰寺，原名慈延寺，海拔1725米。寺前古木茂密浓郁，背倚长寿岩峰插入云，迎面华严顶如翠玉屏风，时有云雾缭绕。寺后林中有一古洞，传说轩辕皇帝在此遇见九皇仙人，故称九老洞。九老洞周边有许多世界珍稀植物珙桐树，被西方人称为“中国鸽子树”。

仙峰寺创于元代至元十八年（公元1281年），初为小庵，明初建有用于存放明神宗御赐大藏经的藏经楼。万历四十年（公元1612年）本烟禅师扩建为大寺，名“仙峰禅林”。崇祯十六年（公元1643年）寺毁于火灾。清乾隆四十四年（公元1779年），由泰安、玉升和尚再度重建，“仙峰寺”之名沿用至今。

第一殿为财神殿。匾额“仙峰禅林”。有联语：

问九老何处飞来，一片碧云天影静；悟三乘遥空望去，四山明月佛光多。

第二殿为大雄殿，中供奉释迦牟尼佛，两旁十八罗汉，背面供奉阿弥陀佛、文殊菩萨、普贤菩萨、地藏王菩萨、观世音菩萨、日光遍照菩萨、月光遍照菩萨，全为脱纱佛像。内有一联：

此地有崇山峻岭，茂林修竹，峰头外布些慈云，常庇琉璃世界；愿人出孽海迷津，名场利薮，洞口前撑来宝筏，普渡亿万生灵。

第三殿为舍利殿，供奉汉白玉雕刻的药师佛像。有舍利铜塔，六方七层，高3.6米，通体敷金，金光闪闪。1904年、1906、1910年，上海龙华寺僧清福三次经越南、泰国、新加坡、印度、锡兰（斯里南卡）取回佛骨舍利15枚、贝叶经3卷、玉佛五尊。后以舍利3枚、贝叶经2卷留赠仙峰寺，寺僧海岸、海良特建造舍利殿存放，“经舍”在“文革”中被毁，现舍利殿重建于解放初期。

Galerija Antik u Kući piva

Slavonski Brod, prosinac 2014.

SVJETSKIE UMJETNICKIE IGRE
WORLD ART GAMES

Galerija Antik u Kući piva

Slikari Udruge Svjetskih umjetničkih igara (WAG) iz desetak država svijeta svojim radovima iz fundusa u Hrvatskoj na prvoj izložbi Galerije Antik u Kući piva u Slavonskom Brodu predstavljaju desetak djela u različitim tehnikama. Izloženi radovi, kako ističe akademski slikar Predrag Golić, zrcale moderno i novo, ali to je ono „novo“ koje ne živi od polemike sa „stariim“. Izložbu bismo mogli i nazvati i „Raznolikost u jedinstvu“ – jedinstvu duha otvorenosti za različito.

Ogromno je značenje ove i ovakve izložbe za naš Slavonski Brod. Pokazali smo se, i dokazali, kao sredina koja više ne živi u procjepu između povijesnosti i aktualnosti, u čemu su nam pomogli i na čemu zahvaljujemo Peteru Weiszu predsjedniku, Jasminki Paunović dopredsjednici i Branku Pešiću članu počasnog odbora Udruge Svjetskih umjetničkih igara.

Velika nam je želja da i svaka buduća izložba bude važno mjesto susreta umjetnika i posjetitelja - nadahnute umjetničke kreativne atmosferom.

TYMON FERENC DELAAT / Nizozemska
Tymon je diplomirao je na Willem de Kooning Akademiji, Nizozemska. Zbog njegovog rada u promopravnoj industriji, radovi su mu obilježeni elementima popularne kulture. On istražuje napetost između umjetnosti i trgovine i koketirajući tabu. Inspiracija za svoje slike načini u brojnim studijskim putovanjima, diljem svijeta. Osobito Srednja i Južna Amerika ostavili su mu snažan utjecaj na njegov rad.

Tymon graduated from the Willem de Kooning Academy, Netherlands. Because of Tymon's Advertising background, there is a reflection of popular culture to be found in his works. He seeks the tension between art and commerce and flirts with the taboo. The inspiration for his paintings comes from many study trips around the world backpacking with a brush and camera. Especially Central and South America have left a colorful imprint.

Sharlene Schmidt / Novi Zeland
Brojni međunarodni rezidencijski programi u kojima je sudjelovala, i izložbe u zemlji i inozemstvu, otvorili su kod Sharlene poseban senzibilitet za široko područje humanosti. Sharlene umjetnički put dokumentira njezin samonametnuti potvorat nadilaženja društvenih i kulturnih razlika. Sharlene je jedna od 7 umjetnika odabranih širom svijeta, čije radove je transformirala u nakit nagradjivana američka kompanija Bajidoo.

Sharlene Schmidt is a Rural Shannon based artist. Many of Sharlene's works represent playable music; music to Sharlene is an international language that can elect understanding without the need for words. Some of the music shown in Sharlene's Oils was composed especially for her paintings. Sharlene is one of the 7 artists worldwide selected to have artworks transformed into jewellery with award winning American company Bajidoo.

TULOSA JA MENOSA

Aune Mattila: Pälkäneläinen kiertää World Art Games -tapahtumissa hyvillä mielin

Kolmansissa taideolympialaisissa

PÄLKÄNE

Pälkäneläinen Aune Mattila on ollut mukana jo kolmissa taideolympialaisissa – yhtä monta kertaa kuin World Art Games järjestettiin. Ensimmäiset kisat käytiin vuonna 2013 Kroatiassa ja toiset viime vuonna Slovakian Bratislavassa. Tänä vuonna tapahtuma pidettiin Montenegrossa toukokuussa. Mattilalla oli kisoissa mukana kaksi tekstillityötä, jotka valikoituvat esivalinnan kautta mukaan tapahtumaan. Molemmat työt olivat tehty itse-värjätyistä kankaista.

– Isommassa työssä käytin kahdeksan eri värjäystapaa ja sitten se kuitenkin oli kuin jonkinlainen maalaus. Työn nimeksi tuli Broken Dreams eli Särkyneet unelmat. Pienemmän työn nimi oli Sininen linna, johon sain inspiration Noora Rosbergiltä, Mattila kertoo.

Suomesta esillä oli myös Suomen World Art Games -presidentti, Kirsti Salosen toita.

Taideolympialaisissa oli mukana edustajia 28 maasta, muun muassa Uudesta-Seelannista, Bangladeshista, Intiasta, Meksikosta, Kiinasta, Israelista, Yhdysvalloista sekä useista Euroopan maista. Taitelijoina oli esillä töitä monipuolisesti taiteneet eri alolta.

– Maalaus oli entinen, mukana oli myös veistoksia ja lasitöitä. Kirjallisuus ja musiikkikin olivat kisoissa edustettuina, Mattila kertoo.

Taidetta, tapahtumia ja retkiä

Aune Mattila toteaa, että avajaistilaisuudet olivat vaikuttavat. Työt oli sijoitettu kahteen lähekkäin olevaan galleriaan. Toisessa galleriassa lauloi naiskuoro ja toisessa soitti jousitrio koko illan ajan.

– Tunnelma oli iloinen ja juhlaava. Tapasimme tuttuja ja tutustuimme uusiin tuttavuuksiin. Katselimme toistemme töitä. Oli hauskaa saada ihastella ja kiihtyä omista töistä ja ihastella vastavuoroisesti heidän töitäan, Mattila muistlee.

Tapauksen uutus oli WAG: lapsityöprojekti, jossa tehdään taidetta lapsiryhmän kanssa. Mattila sanoo, että olisi hienoa, jos Suomessakin liittyisiin mukaan projektin.

– Se vaatii yhteistyötä jonkin koulun kanssa. Projektiin teemoina ovat rauta ja luonto, ja ajatuksesta tasa-arvo ja ystävyys sekä yhdessä toimiminen.

Kisaviihko sisälsi lukuisia tapahtumia, esimerkiksi Uuden-Seelannin naisten perinteisen Maori-tanssin ja tanssissa tarvittavan Poi-pallon tekemisen.

– Runoja lausuttiin ja luettiin tekstejä, ja myös musiikkia oli paljon. Organisaatio järjesti useita retkiä. Tutustuimme esimerkiksi Skadar-järveen ja Kotorin vanhaan kaupunkiin. Majotuimme ensin pääkaupungissa Podgoricassa ja myöhemmin Sutomoressä meren rannalla, Mattila kertoo.

Mattila jatkaa olevansa oikein tytyväinen matkan ansiin.

– Kisoissa toteutuvat täydellisesti WAG:n periaatteet rauhasta ja ystävyydestä yli rajojen, Mattila sanoo.

SHL KRISTIINA HELMINEN

Tapahtuman periaatteisiin kuuluvat ihmisoikeuksien kunnioittaminen riippumatta ihon väristä, uskonnosta, iästä, sukupuolesta, seksuaalista suuntautumisesta, sosiaalista asemasta tai poliittisesta kannasta. Suomen presidentti tiin toimi ensin pälkäneläinen Paul Tiiliä, ja nykyisin Kirsti Salonen. Suomesta osallistujia kisoihin on ollut melko vähän.

– Maamee taitelijapiirien, taidetoimikuntien, kulttuuritoimikuntien ja ihan jopa kulttuuriministeriön tulisi kiinnittää järjestöön huomiota. Nämä Suomikin olisi taidetapahtumassa vahvasti edustettuna eri kansojen ja ihmisten välisen ystävyyden, ihmisoikeuksien ja vapauden tavoitteiden vaalimisessa, Aune Mattila sanoo.

Aune Mattila interview after the 1st World Art Games, in Croatia, in large article.

Opening ceremonies were spectacular. A great program culminating in a firework display, which also celebrated Croatia's EU accession date. Exhibitions were held in many different cities.

In Croatia took part in the exhibition a total of five Finnish artists. Kirsti and Mikko Salonen exhibited paintings and bronze sculpture works, Asta Salminen clothed the trees knits, Paul Tiilila sent the computer art, and Aune Mattila exhibited her patchwork in Palace Batthyany in Ludbreg, together with hundreds of other art works.

“We, Finnish artists, were also a story with a great photos in a Croatian magazines, and Kirsti Salonen was interviewed for radio” says Aune Mattila.

The Event was really exciting, and I got good feedback on my work. Also, interaction with artists is enriched. I met many new friends with whom will definitely keep in touch. Inspired by the trip will also arise my new quilts.

Kroatiassa järjestetään ensi kesänä maailmanlaajuisen eri taidealojen World Art Games -festivaali. Taiteilijahaku on nyt päällä Suomessa, ja maan edustamisesta kiinnostuneiden taiteilijoiden yhteydenottoja odottavat elokuun loppuun mennessä palkäneläistaiteilija Paul Tiililä, toimittaja Kirsti Salonen ja Akun Tehtaan Reijo Hammar.

Festivaali tarjoaa esiintymisareenan lukuisen eri alojen taiteilijoille; katutanssijat, graffitiin tekijät, stand up

-koomikot ja akrobaatit pääsevät näyttämään taitojaan musiikin, kuvataiteilijoiden, teatterialan, tanssijoiden ynnä muiden esiintyjien ohella. Tarkoitus on antaa hyvä kuva Suomen kansallisesta ja oma-leimaisesta kulttuurista.

World Art Gamesin kansallinen Suomen komitea on menossa yhdistysrekisteriin ja sen hallitukseen kuuluvat muun muassa puheenjohtajana Paul Tiililä ja Akun Tehtaalta Aku Syrjä. Työryhmään on liittymässä myös professori Panu Rajala.

Paul Tiilila interview about the upcoming festival of art and artists in Croatia, 1st WORLD ART GAMES

Suomen taidejoukkueita junallaan Palkaneelta

Kilpailu: Maailmanlaajuisen taidekisa World Art Games pidetään Kroatiaassa kesällä 2013 AL 26.6.12

AINO HEIKKONEN
Aamulehti

Maailmankisat ovat tuttuja urheilusta, mutta nyt myös taiteelle järjestetään oma kilpailuansa, World Art Games.

Suomen joukkueita Kroatiassa kesällä 2013 järjestettävän kilpailuihin kootaan Pirkkamaisista käsistä: heidät taidekilpailujen Suomen-komiteen johtajaksi kutsutti palkinnaeläiseksi Paul Tiilille. Tiilila on aiemmin edustanut Suomea taiteilijana useimmissa Pekingin olympialaisissa. Olimpiatilaisuudessa 2008 hän voitti tapaturmassa. Taiteen maailmankisojen taistalla on yleishyödyllinen World Art Games -järjestö. Tapaturmaa järjestetään Kroatian tiele-, operus-, ja urheilu- sekä turismiministeriön tuella.

Suomen-komitea koolle

World Art Games -tapaturman osallistuus näillä näkymillä kaikkiaan 54 maata. Kussakin maassa on kansallinen komitea, joka valitsee Kroatiaan kesäkaussa 2013 lähetettävät osallistujat. Paul Tiilila saa kutsun Suomen-komitean johtoon hieman ennen juhannusta. Hänen ensimmäinen tehtävänsä on kohta ympäriileen komitean muut jäsenet.

Tarkoitus on saada mukanaan omien alojen asiantuntijoiden, kuten musiikki-, ja taidekriitikko. Asiantuntijat eivät välttämättä ole koko perheen mukana.

Suomen edustajat kilpailun pitäisi ilmoittaa jo joulukuussa.

- Kireähän tassa tulee, Tiilila myöntää.

Tiukan aikataulun lisäksi pulmia Suomen edustajien valitsemiseen alhettuaan myös raha. Suomen-komitean pitisi lyhyellä aikataululla hanikkia rahoitusta edustajien kisamatkoihin, jotka maksavat 1400 euroa osallistujaa kohtaan. Rahoista reisustaan haetaan valtioita, säätiöitä ja yksityisiä.

Elävät olympialaiset

Vaikka reilun vuoden päässä sijaitseva World Art Games on uusi tapahtuma, kilpailenminen taiteessa urheilun tapaan ei ole uusi keksintö. Olympialaisissa kisatarttii taiteessa jo 1900-luvun alkupuolella, jolloin olympialaiset olivat esimerkiksi korjalius ja arkkitehtuuria.

Vaikka mitäkin jakanen taiteessa lopeetään 1948, on taide kuitenkin olympiakisojen ohivisotjelmaan myös sen jälkeen. Viimeksi taideetta nähtiin Pekingissä vuonna 2008. Olympiasäntti Lontoonkin on pitänyt yllä nelivuotista kulttuuriolympiaa. Kroatiassa taiteen maailmankisat ajoittivat järjestää niemellä Culture Olympics, mutta olympialikkeet vaati ainisen vahtoa tekijänoikeuksista.

Paul Tiilila haluaa lähetellä

Mikä World Art Games

Taiteen maailmonkisa, joka järjestetään Kroatian kesällä 2013. 15 lajia, mm. valokuvaus, musiikki ja kulttuuri. Taustalla on yleishyödyllinen World Art Games -järjestö. Alun perin kilpailu kului Culture Olympics -nimellä, mutta se jouduttiin vaihtamaan.

Suomesta Kroatiassa kansainvälisen tason taiteilijoita ja nuoria lupaaksi.

- Siitä on taiteilijalle suuri hyöty, että näkemys jostakin

Näiltä kannattaa katsella.

World Art Gamesin tavoitteena on synnyttää tapaturman ympäriileen maailmanlaajuisen taideverkosto. Seuraavan kerran kisat ajoitaan järjestää vuonna 2015.

Gefährliche Frauen, liebenswerte Pferde, Freude und Schmerz stehen an diesem Abend im Zentrum der plattdeutschen Band „Plattmakers“ und des aus Mexiko angereisten Musikers Luis Felipe Ávila Gonzales. Die Musiker präsentieren eine einzigartige Synthese: heiße Rhythmen, gefühlvolle mexikanische Texte, kombiniert mit bodenständigen plattdeutschen Themen! Und das „up Platt y en Español“! Unter dem Titel „World Art Games – Connecting heARTs“ ist parallel zum Musiksommer Artland der Hof Sickmann auch Galerie: Im historischen Umfeld zeigt sich die moderne, zeitgenössische Kunst besonders spannungsreich.

Kortárs művészeti fúzió a Rómerben

SZERZŐ: ZOLJÁNSZKY ALEXANDRA
FOTÓ: MARCALI GÁBOR

„A művészet képes a távoli kultúrákat összehozni” – vallják a World Art Games mozgalom tagjai. A világzervezet hazai képviselő Győrben jött létre, s október 29-től nagy volumenű időszakú kiállítást rendeznek a Rómer Flóris Művészeti és Történeti Múzeumban.

Azokat a törekvéseket kívánja összefogni a nemzetközi művészeti életben a World Art Games elnevezésű szervezet, amelyek az üzleti szempontoktól mentes, tisztán szellemi értékteremtő tevékenységet képviselik. A mozgalom megállmodja és a szervezet létrehozója Peter Weisz Zágrában építette ki a WAG központját, és célja, hogy a művészet eszközeivel közös felületet teremtsen a különböző nemzetek kultúrát szerető népeinek – tudtuk meg Rovács Jolantától, a World Art Games Hungary vezetőjétől. A hazai képviselőt 2012 ószén alapították meg Győrben, így városunk egy olyan központtá vált a művészeti életben, ahonnan segítik, hogy az or-szágban tevékenykedő alkotók nemzetközi szereplési lehetőségeket kapjának. Rovács Jolanta hozzáttette, a WAG egy kortárs képzőművészeti gyűjteményt is alapított, amelyet jelenleg egy európai kiállítás-körúton mutatnak be. A sorozat egyik kiemelkedő állomása a Rómer Flóris Művészeti és Történeti Múzeum, ahol a gyűjtemény anyaga mellett a magyar tagok is bemutatkozhatnak alkotásaikkal.

A Rómer Flóris Művészeti és Történeti Múzeum jogelődjének számító Városi Művészeti Múzeumot húsz éve alapította Kolozsváry Ernő egykorú győri polgármester és nemzetközi hírű műgyűjtő. „Kolozsváry szellemiségehez melltő tárlat nyílik meg, amely kiválik fórum az itt élő művészeknek a bemutatkozásra” – hangsúlyozta Grászli Bernadett múzeumigazgató és hozzátette, a WAG alapítója – aki egyébként jelen lesz a megnyitón – a kortárs alkotásokat művészeti fúzióként kezeli, így a kiállítás széles repertoárral várja az érdeklődőket: többek mellett üvegmosaikok, olaj- és selyemfestmények, grafikák, kerámia-plasztikák, textilkompozíciók és porcelánok tekinthetők meg november 30-ig a Rómerben.

MALAYSIA, Kuala Lumpur - MYBC & WAG Malaysia Event

Kuala Lumpur, April 29th

MYBC & WAG Malaysia Event - media covers Malaysian tourism tv news website

Croatian Ambassador to Malaysia stunning with buskers performances at event of Malaysian Youth Buskers Club/World Art Games Malaysia@MYBC/WAG Malaysia yesterday. He invited Mr. Wady (President of Malaysian Youth Buskers Club - MYBC/Vice President WAGM) to bring over artists of Malaysian Youth Buskers Club to his embassy to have some performances. It is a great move for MYBC@WAGM since the best MYBC artists are the chosen one for slot at the 1st World Art Games Croatian 2013 event.

I personally praise Mr. Wady for commitments given from his side and members of MYBC Buskers. Definitely a performance invitation 'tailored made' to MYBC from Croatian Embassy will surge an urgent call to Malaysian 'Round Table Authorities' on the milestones achieved by these maiden MYBC (established Sept 12') and WAGM (established 22nd March 13').

Thanks to his excellency Mr. Zeljko Bosnjak (Malaysian Croatian's Ambassador) for the spontaneous sparks triggered that will created substantial landmark for both MYBC and WAGM.

NORWAY, Sandefjord - "Byavisa" Article, by Ida Kristine Holm: "En viktig mulighet"

"An important opportunity"

World's first edition of World Art Games made a very positive impression on the artist Elfi Sverdrup.

Sverdrup comes from Stokke, Vestfold and is one of five Norwegians who have participated in the International Cultural Olympiad - World Art Games (WAG) in Croatia.

The Norwegian delegation can tell about a rich program, and Sverdrup itself is entirely positive for the stay.

- It has been an absolutely wonderful experience, which has given incredibly great taste for more, she says.

Altogether, about a hundred artists from Africa, Asia, America and South America, Europe and Australia participated with various contributions within music, visual arts, performances, jewelry, literature, design, dance and fashion.

WAG is an important event because it gives artists the opportunity to get a response from an international audience while drawing inspiration from other cultures. and I've met people I would like to meet again

KOMITEEN FOR NORSK DELTAKELSE

i Kulturolympiaden ble etablert våren 2010 og er et samarbeidsorgan for hovedkomiteen (OKO) i Kroatia.

Medlemmer:

Halvard Kausland, musiker, tidl. fylkesdirektør i Vestfold,

John Gustavsen, forfatter.

Munib Delalic, forfatter, professor i serbo-kroatisk, UiO.

Harald Oredam, billedhugger.

Emil Stang Lund, filmregissør.

Bjarne Sætre, kultursjef, Stokke kommune.

Dieter Krizsat, TV-produksjon.

Mathis Mathisen, forfatter (leder).

Komiteen skal velge ut deltakere til Kulturolympiaden og legge til rette for deltakelsen. Under arrangementene i Kroatia skal medlemmene delta i juryeringen.

Hittil har Norge deltatt i to forprosjekter i Slavonia, KULTURBUSS og NORSK KULTURWEEKEND, kombinert med møter med hovedkomiteen. Vi regner også med å sende ti deltakere til Barneolympiaden.

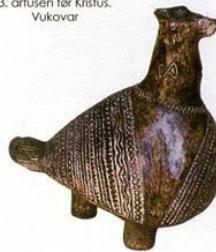

Det er opprettet kontakt med Utenriksdepartementet, Kulturdepartementet, den norske ambassaden i Zagreb, Kontoret for norsk litteratur i utlandet, Norsk Kulturråd, kunstnerorganisasjoner og Norsk Riksringkasting.

Vi regner med å sende en delegasjon på ca. 25 personer til Kulturolympiaden. Det er forfattere (oversatt til serbo-kroatisk), billedkunstnere, en museumsutstilling om Norge, norsk film, fotoutstilling, barneteater, en norsk skulptur til Vukovar, musikere og minst to representanter for samekulturen.

Vi skal også bidra med mat i tre dager på en restaurant.

Arbeidet med endelig program fortsetter, og vi legger vekt på at det skal ha høyeste kvalitet.

CULTURE OLYMPICS
CROATIA 2012

KROATIA lager kulturolympiade høsten 2012 i den østre delen av landet.

Byene Osijek, Vukovar, Ludbreg, Krizevci og Fužine vil være verkskap. 20 land har så langt meldt sin deltagelse, og Norge er blant dem.

Musikk, teater, litteratur, billedkunst, skulptur, design og film er de kategoriene Norge deltar i. Komiteen for norsk deltagelse inviterer noen utvalgte bedrifter og enkeltpersoner til å bidra økonomisk, sponsore eller investere reklamemidler i dette enerhående arrangementet.

VISSTE DU AT

Norge ble olympisk mester i arkitektur i Olympiaden i Antwerpen i 1920?

Olympiske leker, oppkalt etter byen Olympia i Hellas, ble første gang omalt i år 776 før Kristus.

Lekene ble arrangeret hvert fjerde år til ære for greske guder og døde langsomt ut på 300-tallet, etter hvert som kristendommen vant terreng i Europa. I 1896 gjenoppsto de.

Franskmannen Coubertin blir regnet som de moderne internasjonale olympiske lekenes far. Han ville oppmuntre til fredelig kappesjåfør i stedet for krig. Det var viktigere å delta enn å vinne, hevdet han.

Kunst og kultur var en naturlig del av de olympiske lekenes fra begynnelsen.

I årene 1912-48 ble det delt ut medaljer i ulike kunstgrener.

De nordiske landene fikk sine "mestere", Danmark i litteratur og Norge i arkitektur – med gull til Holger Sinding-Larsen.

Etter hvert som olympiadene vokste seg større, utviklet de seg til rene idrettsarrangementer. Kunst og kultur fikk stadig mindre plass. Dette er spesielt uheldig i en tid som er preget av store kulturelle motsetninger, og hvor fordyptelse, kommunikasjon og samarbeid er viktige verdier.

Efter sammenbruddet og krigshandlingene i den tidligere Jugoslaviske føderasjonen tok den kroatisk-israelske maleren Peter Weisz initiativ til opprettelsen av en ny organisasjon for å arrangere den første Kulturolympiaden, - i Slavonia, Kroatia i 2012. Formål: presentere ulike nasjonale kulturer, fremme internasjonal samarbeid, toleranse og dialog. Olimpiada kulture fikk støtte fra kroatiske myndigheter, kulturpersonligheter og organisasjoner. Også (kroatiske) byer ved Adriaterhavskysten har meldt interesse, og byer utenfor landets grenser, Pécs i Ungarn, Novi Sad i Serbia og Tuzla i Bosnia og Hercegovina.

Forberedelsene er godt i gang, programmet omfattende, men nøktern. Økonomien baserer seg på offentlige bidrag, sponsring fra næringsliv, salg av reklame og frivillig innsats. Det er allerede gjennomført en rekke forprosjekter, kunstutstilling, konserter og kulturprogram fra forskjellige delakerland.

En internasjonal barneolympiade skal gå av stabelen i januar 2012, med støtte av de kroatiske kultur- og undervisningsdepartementene.

SPAIN, Tarragona - WAG` Essey "The Welfare State and the Human Dissatisfaction" participates in Humanistic Essey Prize of "Catalunya Literaria Fundacio Privada"

WAG Organization took part in the contest for humanistic essay, theme WELFARE STATE AND HUMAN DISSATISFACTION, with composed original works of Authors from different states, National Committees.

Every human being has own qualities and potentials.

For the development of high-quality society, which will consist of the happy individuals who build a healthy society, are necessary conditions in which an individual will be able to recognize and develop that potentials, and freely achieve own greatest possible extent.

Is it possible a self-actualization, therefore creation of healthy reality within any system (family, city, company, country, worldwide)?

We do believe that it is possible and through this essay we will try to explain and validate it, combining ideas, thoughts, thesis, experiences and stories.

EUROPEAN COMMISSION - VOICES OF CULTURE PLATFORM FOR EUROPEAN CULTURE POLITICS

2016 - Structured Dialogue between the European Commission and the cultural sector

WORLD ART GAMES organization applied, was selected and joined VOICES OFCULTURE - structured dialogue between the European Commission and the cultural sector.

We participated in the section / theme:

"Promoting intercultural dialogue and bringing communities together through culture in shared public spaces"

Brainstorming session, for representatives of participating organizations, was organized in Barcelona / Spain, March 17th - 19th 2016.

As selected participant, WAG had opportunity to send some key messages from our Organization on the Theme and EU Cultural Policy in general, but also to state what we see as the most important topics in Cultural Policy worldwide. First meeting served as opportunity for the cultural sector to brainstorm together and structure the ideas to convey to the European Commission at the Dialogue Meeting at a later stage (April 29, in Brussels). The summary of the discussion was compiled in a Brainstorming Report, drafted by an editorial team appointed by the group of participants itself during the meeting. The Brainstorming Report was finalized remotely in collaboration with the whole group between the Brainstorming Session and the Dialogue Meeting.

About Theme:

In its current Work Plan for Culture (2015-2018), the Council of the European Union continues to prioritize European work on intercultural dialogue. This is an ongoing political commitment in follow-up to the 2007 European Agenda for Culture, where intercultural dialogue was a key theme, the 2008 European Year of Intercultural Dialogue, and the 2014 Report on the Role of Public Arts and Cultural Institutions in the Promotion of Cultural Diversity and Intercultural Dialogue, produced by Member States' experts under the Open Method of Coordination (OMC). The European Parliament is currently preparing its own report on intercultural dialogue, led by Julie Ward MEP, for adoption in early 2016.

The 2014 OMC report included many informative examples of good practice, and the following recommendations to cultural institutions:

- declare commitment [to diversity and dialogue, preferably through an explicit strategy]
- program quality art for all [rather than “add-on” activities for target groups]
- take into consideration non-users [through contacts with communities and NGO’s]
- act locally (including with community “ambassadors”)
- focus efforts to reach new audiences on the young [including through new technologies]
- think outside the box, act outside the walls [to reach people who do not intercultural institutions]

Two years on, as part of renewed structured dialogue on culture with civil society, European Commission wanted to hear more about intercultural dialogue from civil society organizations - in arts and culture and beyond, including NGO’s representing minority groups.

WAG PROJECTS IN DEVELOPMENT

WAG CHILDREN PROJECT

WAG CHILDREN PROJECT is launched to create, synchronize and manage cultural activities for the benefit of children and young people, thus future society.

Children will have possibility to learn more about different societies, different states, different cultures, through exchanges of art works and exhibitions, through the videos and texts; through joint work on different projects.

National Committees are invited to include Schools from their countries in artistic creative activities. All schools and children will be connected through WAG international projects and exchanges of works. Our intention is to establish a framework of tolerance and acceptance of diversity and differences within young generations.

Special accent is on need to be sensible on the needs of societies, so National Committees have to act through the art and creativity to help children to learn better ways to solve problems and avoid pitfalls (ex. Projects against school dropout, against poverty, against hunger, against addictions)

Many national and international projects have been held, are in the process and in plans.
